Lettuce Recall at KFC and Taco Bell in Canada Following E. Coli Outbreak

Jan 14, 2013 02:40 PM EST | By Isabel Altice

KFC and Taco Bell (Photo: Reuters)

Canadian officials recalled romaine and iceberg lettuce sent to KFC and Taco Bell on Monday that is believed to be the source of an E. coli contamination in the country.

KFC and Taco Bell restaurants in locations including, New Brunswick, Newfoundland and Labrador, Nova Scotia, Ontario, Prince Edward Island and Quebec have been warned to remove the lettuce from their food offerings to customers.

As a precaution, the Canadian Food Inspection Agency (CFIA) is working with FreshPoint Inc. to recall any remaining affected products from these restaurants.

Publix Recalls Fruit and Grain Salad for Listeria Risk

BY NEWS DESK | MARCH 27, 2013

Publix Super Markets issued a voluntary recall of a fruit and grain salad sold at its stores Tuesday because the product may be contaminated with Listeria monocytogenes.

The company is recalling certain lots of its Publix brand Deli Tri Fruit and Grain Salad, produced by Allison's Gourmet Kitchens, and distributed to stores in Alabama, Florida, Georgia, South Carolina and Tennessee.

Product subject to the recall is sold in 12-ounce containers marked with UPC # 41415-39662. Affected items have use by dates of 4/5/2013, 4/14/2013 or 4/17/2013.

Consumers who purchased the recalled salads can return them to their point of purchase for a full refund, announced the company.

No illnesses have been associated with this product to date, according to Publix.

More Sprouts Recalled in Pacific Northwest for Listeria Risk

BY NEWS DESK | FEBRUARY 2, 2013

A Washington state-based sprout grower expanded its recall of products that may be contaminated with Listeria monocytogenes Friday to include all sprouted seeds sold by the firm.

Sprouters Northwest of Kent, WA issued an initial recall Monday after samples of product tested positive for Listeria. That recall included broccoli, clover and spicy sprouts with a best-by date of 1/26/13 and alfalfa sprouts with a best-by date of 1/31/13. Now, the company is expanding its voluntary recall to include all of the company's products, including its 3-Bean Munchies, Brocco Sandwich Sprouts, Alfalfa Sprouts, Bean Sprouts, Broccoli Sprouts, Clover Sprouts, Deli Sprouts, Spicy Sprouts, and its Wheatgrass and Pea Shoots.

The products were distributed to retailers and distributors in Washington, Oregon, Alaska and British Columbia, Canada through January 30, 2012.

The sprouted seeds were sold under the Sprouters Northwest and LifeForce brands in plastic clamshell containers, plastic cups and plastic trays that come in 3 oz., 4 oz. and 5 oz. sizes, and in plastic bags of 1 lb. 2lb or 5lb. Best-by dates are marked on packaging and include all dates through 2/17/2013.

The problem was discovered by the Washington State Department of Agriculture through testing conducted on finished products at retail locations and at the firm's production
